

Short Story Manuscripts Sought

Setseno (the name Setseno is Sesotho [a language spoken in Lesotho, Botswana, South Africa, Namibia and Zambia] for meeting place (as there are future plans to work with artists and musicians) via Tsopotsa Publishing (4 St. John Street, London EC1V 4PW) in the United Kingdom is seeking short story manuscripts from new voices to share their original short stories.

Tsopotsa Publishing specialises in short stories with a word count of between 3000 to 30,000 words each. Shorter length stories deemed suitable will be compiled into one book. Submission is open to any genre. The first one hundred writers to submit will receive a book cover as part of the publishing package. Each short story will be presented as an individual Ebook with its own cover. The call also extends to poetry of any length. The deadline for this first round of submissions is the 31st October 2015. Content should be sent to Tsopotsa@icloud.com.